The Honor List of St. Louis County.--Of those who made the Supreme Sacrifice, it has been possible to collect some biographical data. The record is not complete, but is given in the hope that it will add something to existing printed record, and as a tribute to those brave patriots who willingly placed their personal interests second to those of the nation, and gave of their strength, even unto death, to defeat the power that sought to establish Might as Right.

F. O. Abrahamson met death in France. He belonged to the Machine Gun Company of the One Hundred and Second Regiment of Infantry, Twenty-seventh Division of the American Expeditionary Forces.

C. Albertson was twenty-six years old when he was killed in action in France in 1918. He was earnest in the cause, and had made many unsuccessful attempts to enlist before June 28, 1918, when he was accepted as a substitute for a volunteer who had been called but had failed to report for duty. Albertson left Duluth that day. The time was one of the darkest of the war and the need of man-power at the Western front was desperate. Apparently, Albertson was given practically no military training in this country for a few months later he was in France.

E.P. Alexander was a young Duluthian of distinct promise. He was born in Duluth, November 4, 1891, son of Edward P. and Agnes G. Alexander, of Duluth. He was an engineer of good collegiate training, for as well as being a graduate of the University of Minnesota he was a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He married Myra Salyards of Duluth and had entered civil engineering practice in Duluth, with bright prospects, when this nation became involved in the European war in 1917. He was one of the first to leave Duluth, going in June, 1917, to Fort Snelling, where he was given the responsibility of commissioned grade in the Engineering Corps. As a first lieutenant, he saw active service in France with the Five Hundred and Ninth Engineers. He succumbed to the ravages of influenza at St. Nazaire, France, and was there buried. His military record was good, and promotion to the grade of captain came to him on the day of his funeral.

Bryan Allen, who died in May, 1918, was a member of Battery C, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, a unit originally belonging to the Minnesota National Guard. He was the son of Leo Allen, of 315 South Fifteenth Avenue, east, Duluth.

Francis Allie, who died in France, of wound received on July 16, 1918, right at the beginning of the great Allied counter-offensive, which did not end until the enemy went down in final defeat, in November, 1918. He was well-known in West Duluth and was assigned to, and saw active service with, the Machine Gun Company of the One Hundred and Fifty-first Field Artillery, Battery B.

Alfred J. Anderson enlisted from Duluth. His sister is Mrs. D. Lake, of 1308 East Fifth Street.

Dr. John Andres practiced his profession in Duluth before entering the Medical Department of the United States army.

Robert Arbelus, whose place of enlistment was Ely, is survived by a sister, Mrs. Minnie Retois, now resident in Iron Belt, Wisconsin.

Hillard Aronson belonged to a well-known Tower family. He was born in Tower, son of John and Beda Aronson, and was in lucrative business with his brother, as boat owners on Lake Vermilion. He registered early in 1917, but was not called into military service until June 24, 1918, on which day he reported at Ely for duty, as a private in the Infantry of the National Army. He was assigned to Company C, Three Hundred and Thirty-third Machine Gun Battalion, Eighty-sixth Division, at Camp Grant, Rockford, Illinois, and after an intensive course of machine-gun training was transferred to Camp Mills, New York. On September 14, 1918, he embarked on the British troopship "Olympic," and on September 20th, arrived at Southampton. Conditions of sea-travel in that time of shipping scarcity were rigorous, the troopships being much overcrowded. Young Aronson contracted sickness on the voyage and eight days after being landed at Southampton died of Lobar Pneumonia at Shirley Warren Hospital, Southampton, England. His body was interred in the United States Military Cemetery, Magdalen Hill, Winchester, England, on September 29, 1918, but eventually the body was disinterred and brought back to the United States by the government. His remains now rest in Forest Hill Cemetery, Duluth, the funeral taking place, with military ceremonies, on June 3, 1920.

Mike F. Bagley is claimed as a Duluthian. He was a married man and his widow, Alice, still lives at 318 West Fourth Street, Duluth.

Lorenta Bakke, whose name is in the Duluth records, resided at 3614 West Fourth Street, Duluth, prior to enlistment. His father, Ulrik B., lives in Bergen, Norway.

Glenn J. Ball, who was killed in action on September 5, 1918, on the French front, was a machinist in the employ of the South Shore Railway Company, at Duluth, prior to entering upon military service. He was enlisted in June, 1917, at Marquette, Michigan, of which state he was a native, having been born October 20, 1899, at Peck, Michigan, son of Edward and Abbie Ball. After enlistment, in the grade of private, he was assigned to Company G, 128th Infantry, of Thirty-second Division, and sent to Camp Arthur, Texas, where for five or six months he remained. On February 8, 1918, he embarked, at Hoboken, New Jersey, and thus reached France before the great German offensive of 1918 had begun. His father now lives in St. Louis County, Rural Route No. 3, Duluth.

Alexius Rinchild Bang, who died of pneumonia, at Camp Cody, New Mexico, November 3, 1918, was formerly a resident in Culver Township. He was born on February 28, 1897, at Fielboberg, Vilhelminy Wisterbotten, Sweden, the son of E. F. Bang, now of Culver, St. Louis County. Young Bang was called to duty on October 21, 1918, and left then for Camp Cody, New Mexico. He was never destined to be assigned to a military unit, being stricken with influenza almost upon arrival at Camp Cody. Pneumonia developed and he died on November 3rd.

Chris. W. Baumgarten was of Duluth, where his mother, Mrs. Augustine Baumgarten lives.

Norman K. Bawks was a resident of Stevenson, Minnesota, where his widow, Alphonsine O., still lives.

Eli Belich was of Servian origin, his father being Waso Belich, of Labon, Servia.

Howard L(ewis) Bennett was a popular young resident of Buhl, and before the war was in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining Company, Buhl, as assistant engineer. He was born on October 4, 1894, at Ironwood, Michigan, son of William H. Bennett, who has lived in Buhl, St. Louis County, for many years. Howard was one of the first in the Range country to enlist. He enlisted on May 23, 1917, and was sent to Fort Snelling, Minnesota, where he was assigned to the Medical Detachment of the First Minnesota Infantry. Later, he was sent to Camp Cody, New Mexico, about that time being transferred to the One Hundred and thirty-fifth Regiment, a unit of the Thirty-fourth Division. He succumbed to pneumonia at Camp Cody, on April 14, 1918, at that time having the rating of private first-class. To honor his memory his service comrades of Buhl gave his name to the Buhl post of the American Legion.

Harold Berg, whose name appears on the Honor Roll of St. Louis County, was of Norwegian birth, and lived at Proctor for some time prior to enlisting. His enlistment papers name as his father Lavritz Ber, of Lena, Ototen, Norway.

William E. Berg, son of Charles Berg, of 401 Mygatt Avenue, Duluth, was in the employ of the Rust-Parker Company, Duluth, before he entered the United States Army. He was called to active duty in June, 1918, and assigned to Company C, of the Three Hundred and Fifty-eighth Infantry. His training was short, for on July 4th his regiment embarked for France. On September 16th, 1918, he was killed in action.

Rada Besonovich lived at Buhl before the war. His brother is John Besonovich, of that place.

William Bodin was the son of Gust Bodin, of Proctor.

Herman Bjormhang, of Proctor, was kin to Paul Hendrickson, Grand Marais, Minnesota.

Alfred John Bradford was a married man, his widow, Mrs. M. C. Bradford living at 1011 East Third Street, Duluth.

Carl Bowman, who was killed in aerial combat in France on July 25, 1918, was a native of Seattle, Washington, although he was in business in Duluth when war came. He enlisted at Duluth in June, 1917, being accepted for assignment to the Aviation Corps. He became an observer, and was early sent to France.

Solem Eric Broman, who was killed in action on the French front on September 29, 1918, was one of those true defenders of liberty who sought to enter the fight before the United States Government was prepared to accept service. He was a resident of Duluth, but early in March, 1917, went into Canada, and enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. On March 16, 1917, he was assigned to the Two Hundred and Forty-ninth Overseas Battalion. He saw five months of hard service in the front trenches in France before meeting death in action in September, 1918. The military record of the Broman family is a worthy one, two other brothers having given military service, one in the Canadian forces. Henry Broman, the father, lives at 232 Mesaba Avenue, Duluth.

Leo Arthur Brooks is listed as of Crookson residence prior to entering the service, but he might have been included with the honor men of Duluth, for he enlisted from Duluth, and had had residence in Duluth, living with his sister, Mrs. Leslie Code, 5107 Colorado Street, and working as a fireman in Duluth. He was born on December 11, 1886, at Hungerford, Michigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brooks. When he enlisted he was more than thirty years old, and proved to be a most zealous and reliable soldier. After enlistment, he was sent to Camp Wadsworth, S. C., and assigned to Company K of the Fifty-third United States Infantry. He embarked at New York in July and reached the front line trenches in the Bosges Mountains, on September 6th. He was killed during a trench raid night of September 15-16th, and his conduct during that raid was such as to bring him commendation from his commanding officer, Capt. R. A. Helmbold, who wrote that Brooks continued to fight after being wounded, the captain stating that he had lost, in Brooks, "one of his bravest and best soldiers." He testified that Brooks kept his automatic rifle going until he was relieved, notwithstanding that he was mortally wounded; and he was of the opinion that it was due chiefly to the bravery and reliability of Brooks that the German raid was repelled.

Wallace Orab Brown, who was gassed in the 1918 battle of the Marne, and died in hospital, in France on October 17, 1918, was born on June 23, 1901, at Kennan, Price County, Wisconsin. His father, John Brown, lives at Woodland and Wallace for a while was a brickmaker at Princeton, Minnesota, at which place he enlisted on August 27, 1917, electing to give service in a field artillery unit. He was sent to Camp Cody, New Mexico, and assigned to Company B, One Hundred and Second Field Artillery, eventually embarking for France.

Peter Bruno, of West Duluth, was of Italian origin, his father being Antonio Bruno, of Goddisca, Udine, Italy.

Charles C. Butler, of Virginia, gave his life voluntarily in a brave, self-sacrificing service to his division. He enlisted November 23, 1917, in the Tank Corps, which eventually became part of the American Expeditionary Forces; and his division came into action at one of the most difficult parts of the Hindenburg line of trenches, at Bony, France. Butler, the record states, volunteered to lay out black and white tape for tanks, one report stating that he was the only man of his division to volunteer for such work of extreme danger. He was killed while so engaged, a shell closing his career, and bringing his name onto the immortal roll of worthy American soldiers, who exceeded their duties in an endeavor to better serve their country. Butler was well-known and esteemed in Virginia, where his mother, Mrs. C. C. Butler, lives. He was born at Iron Mountain, Michigan, on November 15, 1889.

Charles A. Campbell, who died of pneumonia in France, just one day before the Armistice ended hostilities in November, 1918, was a volunteer above the draft age. He enlisted in the lowest grade and by reliable service reached the responsibility of a sergeant. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Campbell, of 1511 East Third Street, Duluth.

John William Campbell, of the Marine Corps, A. E. F., died of bronco-pneumonia at Coblez, Germany, on February 9, 1919. He was born May 20, 1890, at Calumet, Michigan, and was called to military service in April, 1918.

Oscar C. Carlson, of Duluth, was the son of Mrs. Mary Carlson, of East Fifth Street, Duluth.

Leonard William Cato, of Duluth, was enlisted in September, 1917, and became a member of an Infantry regiment of the famous Rainbow Division. He, however, was not destined to see foreign service, death coming on December 6, 1917, at Camp Dodge, Iowa, from spinal meningitis. He was a native of Duluth, born in that city on January 24, 1896 (or 1897), son of Louis Cato, who now lives at 2131 Columbia Avenue.

Ole H. Christenson, whose papers show that he was a resident of Harding, St. Louis County, was the son of Mrs. Gunhild Christenson, of 508 W. Superior Street, Duluth. He died of pneumonia, at Camp Fremont, California, where he was stationed. He was a lieutenant of the One Hundred and Sixty-Sixth Depot Brigade, and his body was sent under military escort to Duluth for burial in the Forest Hill Cemetery.

John Christopher, of Duluth, deserves good place among the Honor men of St. Louis County. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and notwithstanding that he was forty-three years old, and could not get into the United States Army, which under the Selective Service plan was amply filled by much younger men, he was determined to find a place in the military forces arrayed against the German machine. He went to Canada, and at once was accepted for the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and assigned to an infantry unit. He was killed in action in France on September 27, 1918. he was mourned by many in Duluth, having for years been an employee of the Scott-Graff Lumber Company. His mother, Mrs. Mary Christopher, lives at 321 East Fifth Street, Duluth.

Raulin H. Clark, a Duluth boy, was one of the first to enlist in May, 1917. He was assigned to the Medical Detachment of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, and went to France with that unit. After passing through all the dangers that came to his unit during the period of active fighting, he was destined to die of sickness, pneumonia necessitating his transfer to a hospital in Bordeaux, France, almost of the eve of the departure of his unit for home. He died in that hospital on January 21, 1919, but eventually his body was returned to the United States, and now rests in Oneota Cemetery. He was born on January 31, 1898, at Willow River, Minnesota, and the family later came to Duluth, his mother, Mrs. E. Clark, now living at 5809 Cody Street. The boy graduated from Denfield High School in 1916, and was well under the draft age when he enlisted.

Alexander Cosgrove, who was a member of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces and was killed in action in France, was a Duluthian.

Walter Crellin, the first Virginia boy in United States uniform to give his life, was on board the British liner "Tuscania" when it was torpedoed off the coast of Ireland on February 5, 1918. His body was recovered and buried at Kilnaughton, Islay, Scotland, but in due time was disinterred and brought back to America, so that it might have honored place in the Arlington National Cemetery, near Washington. Interment there took place on October 22, 1920. Young Crellin was well-known in both Eveleth and Virginia. He was born on August 15, 1895, at Ishpeming, Michigan, the son of Captain John S. Crellin, a mine manager, who later came to Virginia, and latterly has been of Leonidas Location, Eveleth. Walter attended the Virginia schools, eventually, in 1914, graduating from the Virginia High School. In October, 1917, he enlisted in the Aviation Section, Signal Corps.

Frank M. Cullen, whose name is on the Duluth Honor Roll, has a sister living in West Duluth, Mrs. Minnie Gilbert, of 20 Fifty-third Avenue.

Benjamin Dachyk, of Duluth, was killed by a falling tree not far from the front-line trenches in France, on July 22, 1918. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dachyk, of Greysolon Farms, near Duluth, and he enlisted at Duluth, in June, 1917, being then assigned to Company A of the Third Minnesota Regiment. Later, he was transferred to the Eighth Company, Third Motor Mechanic Corps, Air Service.

Charles Daniels, whose father, Alphonse Daniels, lives in Buyck, St. Louis County, was a Belgian by birth, born at Berges, Belgium, May 23, 1896. The family came to St. Louis County in 1910, and took up the cultivation of an acreage of wild land in Buyck township. Charles was inducted on June 5, 1917, when he became a private of infantry, National Guard. He was assigned to Company I, One Hundred and Twenty-Seventh Infantry, and in due time crossed the sea to the French Front. He was killed in action on the Argonne front on October 16, 1918.

Rocco Decenzo, who was in the employ of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, Gilbert, before entering military service, was born at Saglione, Italy, the son of Vicoriano Decenzo, of that place. He was inducted on May 24, 1918, at Eveleth, Minn., in the grade of private of infantry of National Army. He was assigned to the Thirty-Fourth Company, Ninth Battalion, One Hundred and Sixty-Sixth Depot Brigade, soon after arrival at Camp Lewis, Wash., and later became a member of Company H, One Hundred and Fifty-Seventh Infantry, Fortieth Division. With that unit he embarked from New York, on August 8, 1918. His regiment was soon in action, and he received wounds from which he died. His body was interred in the American Cemetery, Commune of Brieyaux, Meuse, France, on October 3, 1918.

James T. Doherty, who, like his father of same name, was well-known and popular in Buhl, Minn., where he was in the employ of the Dower Lumber Company, was born at Grand Rapids, on September 17, 1893. Inducted December 16, 1917, at Chisholm, he was destined to see strenuous service in France, and to safely pass through many major offensives, including St. Mihiel, and Meuse-Argonne. He also saw severe fighting on the Champagne front, and in a Verdun sector. A month or so after the Armistice he was taken sick, tubercular trouble keeping him in Base Hospital No. 52, Remaucourt, France, from December 15, 1918, to March 26, 1919. He was only partially convalescent when he left France in May, 1919, on the troopship "DeKalb." He succumbed to lobar-pneumonia during the voyage. His military service included six months of training at the Presidio of San Francisco. On June 24, 1918, he was transferred to Company B, Army Artillery Park, First Army, and embarked July 1st at Hoboken, for Bordeaux.

Frank Donatello, who was in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining Company, at Hibbing, was inducted on June 28, 1918, at Duluth, and assigned in the grade of private to the Engineers National Army. He was born on June 4, 1886, at Barron, Wisconsin, and died of Disease in France on November 25, 1918. His father, San Donatello, lived at Cumberland, Wisconsin.

Joseph Dragich's death, on May 1, 1918, at a Texas camp, was attributed to the effects of pneumonia. He was one of the most eager volunteers of the early days of the war, enlisting in May, 1917. He was an Austrian by birth, born October 17, 1888, at Tarvi, Austria, son of Nicholas Dragich, now of Chisholm.

Laurence P. Drohan, of West Duluth, left Duluth on April 26, 1917, and was early in France. He was killed in action on October 5, 1918. His mother, Mrs. Mary Drohan, lives at 9 Sixteenth Avenue, West, Duluth.

Arthur J. Duggen, whose mother, Minnie Duggen, lives in Bradford, Pennsylvania, had residence in Ely before enlisting.

Dr. Harry Dunlop, who died of wounds on November 2, 1918, was at one time in active practice in Duluth, associated with Dr. David Graham, of West Duluth. In 1912 he went to Peru, but the outbreak of the war in 1914 drew him to Canada, where, in 1914, he enlisted in the Canadian Army. He was commissioned and assigned to the Medical Department, and sent overseas. Eventually he became captain, and passed through the long, dark, and dangerous years of vigil with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, his death coming only nine days before the Armistice ended the strain. A brother of Dr. Dunlop lives in Duluth, and has reason to be satisfied with the part taken by his family in the struggle for the Great Cause. Four of the family were in war service, three brothers and one sister.

Napoleon Duprey, a Duluthian who was killed in action in France, was born at Rib Lake, Taylor County, Wisconsin, on April 6, 1901, but lived for years in Duluth prior to entering service on November 3, 1917, as a private of infantry of the regular army. He was sent to Jefferson Barracks, and later to Camp Green, S. C., and embarked at New York on March 3, 1918, as a member of Company E, Thirty-Eighth Infantry, A. E. F. He was killed in action on July 15, 1918, in the Commune of Courtemont, Varennes, France. His mother, Celia Duprey, lives at 1932 West Michigan Street, Duluth.

Clarence E. Ellison was a Saginaw, Minnesota, boy, son of Elias Ellison, of that place.

Albert A. Erickson is claimed to have been a Duluthian; his brother, John G., lives in Cumberland, Wisconsin.

Edgar Eubanks, who was killed in action in France in October, 1918, and who prior to entering service lived in St. Louis County, was born in 1897 in Rice Lake, Wisconsin, where his parents still live. He was called to service in 1917, and assigned to the Machine Gun Company, Third Wisconsin Regiment, which eventually became a unit of the A. E. F.

John Fairgrieve, Jr., was well-known in Duluth. Until he was called into service on October 21, 1918, he was a salesman for the Knudson Fruit company, of Duluth. He was born on November 26, 1893, in Galashiels, Scotland, the son of John and Margaret Fairgrieve. After enlistment, he was sent to Camp Cody, Deming, New Mexico, and there assigned to Company E, Three Hundred and Eighty-Eighth Infantry. He, however, was taken sick soon after arrival, and died in Deming, New Mexico, November 5, 1918. He was a married man, his widow, Edith (Hamilton) Fairgrieve still living in Duluth.

Guy Raymond Forbes, who died in France, was a volunteer much over draft age. He was born January 29, 1879, at Grand Rapids, Michigan. He enlisted on May 13, 1917, his technical experience causing him to elect to join an Engineer Service Battalion, with which he went to France. He died of cerebral hemorrhage, near Toul, France, on May 5, 1918. His widow, Grace, now lives in Minneapolis.

Frank Leo Fox, a Duluthian killed in action in France, was the son of Michael Fox, of 213 North Fifty-Third Avenue, Duluth. Frank enlisted in Duluth April 26, 1918, and soon went overseas.

Mozart Fredland was known to very many business men of Duluth. He was a barber in the Wolvin Building, Duluth, for some time before returning to his former home, Madison, Wisconsin, in May, 1918, to take military service. He was sent to Camp Grant, Illinois, and there died of influenza on October 10, 1918.

Leland Chester Giddings, who was killed in an aeroplane accident at Scott Field, Belleville, Illinois, on July 11, 1918, was a native of Duluth, born in that city on January 27, 1896, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Giddings, of 19 East Victoria Street, Duluth. He was one of the early volunteers, enlisting in the aviation branch of the U. S. Army on May 3, 1917.

Walter Glockner, of Grand Forks, went with a Duluth quota to Camp Dodge, and eventually reached France. He was killed in action on August 2, 1918.

Cornelius Bertram and Frederick Norbert Goodspeed, brothers, were the sons of Alvin and Rose M. Goodspeed, of Kinney. Both boys were born in Virginia, Minn., Cornelius on February 15, 1898, and Frederick on November 10, 1899; and both were educated in the local schools. Cornelius was a brakeman at Kinney before entering the army, and Frederick was a locomotive fireman for the Swallow and Hopkins Mining Company, at the same place. The elder brother was called to military service in April, 1918, and sent to Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa, to join a Regular Army infantry regiment. He became a member of Company C, Twentieth Infantry, Tenth Division, and was stationed at Fort Douglas, Utah, for a period, and later at Fort Riley, Kansas. He was appointed corporal on September 1, 1918, and probably considered himself unfortunate in having to pass the whole of his service at a home station. He contracted scarlet fever at Fort Riley early in 1919, and died there on February 2d. His younger brother, Frederick Norbert, enlisted on May 6, 1917, at Virginia, as a private, and left without delay for Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas, where he was assigned to the Headquarters Company of the Sixteenth Regiment, First Division. He was only at Fort Bliss for one month, leaving in June, 1917, for Port of Embarkation. He sailed from Hoboken on the "Havana," on June 14, 1917, and arrived safely at St. Nazaire, France, on June 25th, being thus with one of the first American units to set foot in France. The regiment remained in the Gondrescourt Area until October 10, 1917, and was in action on October 21, 1917, in the sector north of Canal de Parroy. Later, the regiment was in action at Cantigny, Soissons, St. Mihiel, and Argonne. For gallantry in action, young Goodspeed was cited on one occasion by his brigade commander, Brigadier-General Parker. Finally, the brave boy was killed in action, in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, on October 4, 1918.

Henry Patrick Gowan was an enterprising business man of Duluth, member of the firm of Gowan-Lenning-Brown Company, wholesale grocers of Duluth. His sister, Mrs. Mary Dacey, lives at 1621 East Fourth Street, Duluth.

John Graden, nephew of Charles Sandgren, 2901 West Third Street, Duluth, was thirty-two years old when he enlisted. In prior civil life he was an employee of the Duluth, Missabe and Northern Railway Co., Bridge and Building Department, at Duluth Docks. He went overseas, and died of pneumonia in France on October 9, 1918.

Charles H. Gordon, who lived at Proctor, was the son of Mrs. Katherine T. Graves, 534 West Second Street, Duluth.

Elmer L. Griffen, who was inducted at Duluth, was formerly a resident of Solon Springs. He reported for military duty at Duluth on July 25, 1918, being enlisted as private of infantry, and sent to Camp Wadsworth, South Carolina. There he was assigned to Headquarters Company, Three Hundred and Twenty-third Infantry, and with that regiment eventually crossed the seas. He died of pneumonia, in France, on October 8, 1918. His sister, Mrs. Bessie Mosher, now lives at 313 Morgan Park Street, Duluth.

Herman Gulbranson, who was wounded in action on the Vesle River front, August 1, 1918, and died a week later in hospital, was a native of St. Louis County, born at Hermanstown, February 2, 1896, son of Peter and Hilma Gulbranson. Before entering the service he was in the employ of the Duluth, Missabe and Northern Railway Company at Proctor. He enlisted on September 22, 1917, at Duluth, and left for Camp Dodge, Iowa, where he was assigned to Company B, Three Hundred and Fifty-Second Infantry. About a month later he was transferred to Camp Cody, New Mexico, and there remained until June 16, 1918, when his unit was ordered to Port of Embarkation. The regiment was at Camp Merritt, New Jersey, for a week, and sailed on June 28th, at a time when the call for man-power was most urgent, and the outlook darkest. Soon after reaching France, the regiment moved to a front area.

Alfred Israel Gustafson, who lived at Chisholm for some time before enlisting, was born in Eveleth, son of Fred Gustafson, now of Cook, St. Louis County. Date of birth, May 29, 1896. He entered the service on May 25, 1918, as private of infantry, and was assigned to Company I, of One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth Infantry, Fifth Army Corps. He was killed in action in France on October 21, 1918.

Charles R. Gustafson, of Duluth, elected to give service in one of the most dangerous branches of the army, the Air Service. He was early in France, and as a lieutenant of the Twenty-Fifth Aero Squad, Fourth Pursuit Corps, was on the French front during the early days of the German drive of 1918. He was killed in action on April 9, 1918.

John Gustafson was a farmer at Angora prior to enlisting.

Robert H. Gustafson was of Duluth; his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Johnson, lives at 430 West Fifth Avenue.

William August Gustafson is on the Hibbing roll, his mother, Ida Gustafson, still living there.

Edward Cornelius Hagar, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hagar, of 814 Third Avenue, east, Duluth, was killed at sea on September 29, 1918. He had enlisted in the United States Navy, and was one of the ship's company of the U. S. transport "Ohioan." Death came from fracturing of skull and other injuries sustained by mishap encountered in launching a lifeboat.

Earl F. Haire is on the Honor Roll, but no biographical or service records are available from which his life and army service might be reviewed.

Theodore George Hall, son of George Hall, of 3124 Chestnut Street, Duluth, served in the army for twenty-two months and was in action in most of the major offensives and defenses from Chateau Thierry to the end. He was born on February 19, 1900, at Erie, North Dakota, son of George and Ida Ayers Hall. He was at heart a soldier and took keen interest in the functioning of the Minnesota National Guard. He was a member of Company C, Minnesota National Guard, and with that unit served on the Mexican border in 1916. Not many months after he had returned from the border, he enlisted for World War service. On July 15, 1917, he was assigned to Company C, Third Minnesota Infantry, which federalized became part of the Thirty-Fourth Division. From August, 1917, to June, 1918, the regiment was at Camp Cody, New Mexico. In June, 1918, young Hall was transferred, at Camp Cody, to the June Automatic Replacement Draft, and later to the Third Trench Mortar Battery, Third Artillery Brigade, Third Division, A. E. F. He sailed for France in the "Justicia," in the latter part of June, 1918, and upon arrival went almost immediately to the front. He saw fighting in most of the major offensives from Chateau Thierry to the end, being present at Chateau Thierry, Verdun, St. Mihiel, and Meuse-Argonne. After the Armistice, his division became part of the Army of Occupation, and marched to the Rhine. He was stationed at Mayen, Germany, until he died. Death came, after only one day of illness, on the last day of 1918, the sickness being diagnosed as lobar-pneumonia. Eventually, the body was disinterred, and brought back to this country, and to Duluth. Funeral services were held at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Duluth, on October 19, 1920, on which day his remains were laid finally in Oneota Cemetery with military honors, the ceremony being conducted under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

Carl Hansen, who was killed in action at the Meuse River, France, on October 31, 1918, was a well-known West Duluth musician. He was born on February 8, 1889, in Sdrup, Sweden, where his mother still lives, although he had other relatives in Minnesota, a sister, Mrs. O. O. Woods, living at Hopper, Minn. Carl was called into military service on April 26, 1918, and assigned to an infantry regiment, crossing the sea without much delay, being killed in action within six months of enlistment, almost.

Herbert Constantius Hansen, son of Thor and Atlanta Hansen, of Duluth, was born May 23, 1898, at Kennsett, North County, Iowa. He was a machinist by trade, and before entering the navy was employed at his trade at the Clyde Iron Works, Duluth. He was called to active duty on August 10, 1918, at Duluth, and was sent for training to the Great Lakes Naval Station. There he died of pneumonia on September 24, 1918.

Peter Hansen's endeavor to be of some use to his country in the time of need is obvious in his bare record. He was a cripple even before enlisting, a hunting accident injuring his spine. He was in a wheel chair when enlisted in September, 1917. He was a skillful radio operator, and asked to be assigned to such work at a home station, so as to relieve one physically fit man for overseas work. He served for more than a year, dying eventually of pneumonia, in October, 1918, at the Marine Hospital, Chicago. He was born on March 9, 1897, at Biwabik, the son of Peter and Jennie Hansen, now of Chisholm.

Bernard C. Hanford was a member of Company B, Fifteenth Machine Gun Battalion.

Thomas Hammer, who lived in Duluth for some time prior to enlistment, was killed in action in the Argonne offensive on October 7, 1918.

Jack Hanford, a lieutenant who died in a French hospital on August 8, 1918, of wounds received nine days earlier, was a native of Duluth, born in the city in 1897. His father, Harry C. Hanford, now lives at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but for many years lived in Duluth, being at one time agent for a coal company of that place. He lived on Third Avenue, near Eleventh Avenue, east. Therefore Lieutenant Jack Hanford may rightly be placed on the Duluth Honor roll.

About Thor Harris, who made the supreme sacrifice, there is no information available.

Arthur James Hayes, a native Duluthian, who died of pneumonia in a home camp within a few months of enlistment, was a young writer of promise. He was born in Duluth on October 1, 1894, the son of James J. and Margaret A. Hayes, now of Chisholm, and was given a good education, becoming eventually a college graduate. He took to literary pursuits, and gave indications of marked adaptability to that profession. He reported for military duty at Duluth in February, 1918, and was assigned to the Thirty-Sixth Engineers at Camp Grant, Illinois. There, on April 16th following, he died.

Edward Hedenburg, of Duluth, was one of four sons of A. Hedenberg, of 4525 Peabody Street, Duluth, to give service. He enlisted in October, or November, 1917, in the Ordinance Department, U. S. Army, and saw service in France with the Supply Division of Ordinance. Returning to this country, he was detained in a New York hospital, where he died in June, or July of 1919, of pneumonia.

Earl B. Herbert, who lived at 217 Second Avenue, west, Duluth, before enlisting, seems to have had no other relatives in St. Louis County. His mother lives at Menominee, Michigan.

George Heber is claimed by Hibbing, his mother, Margaret Heber, living there.

Michael Hesdal was of Duluth, although his parents still live in Norway. His father is Mons Hesdal, of Lillebergen, Bergen, Norway.

Arnold Walter Johnson, whose name is on the Duluth list, was a son of Mrs. Nellie Johnson, Virginia.

Axel W. Johnson lived at 1331 West First Street, Duluth, prior to enlistment. His nearest relative is given as Miss Jennie Helbert, an aunt, of Kansas City, Missouri.

Carl W. Johnson, who went from Duluth, was the son of Charles E. Johnson, 2085 Sixty-Seventh Avenue, West, Duluth.

Cecil A. Johnson lived at Proctor. His widow, Effie, now lives at Bayfield, Wisconsin.

Conrad Gilbert Johnson was a native of Duluth, and a promising student at the University of Minnesota when war came. He was born in Duluth on November 25, 1896, the son of Otto and Christina Johnson, now of 2615 West Third Street, Duluth. He attended local schools, and eventually entered the University of Minnesota. On April 17, 1917, he enlisted at Minneapolis, as a candidate-officer, and was sent to the First Officers' Training School at Fort Snelling, Minnesota. Successfully passing examinations at the close of the course of training, he was accepted into the Air Service of the United States Army, which meant that he was as nearly physically perfect as was possible, the physical test of the aviation branch of the U. S. forces being the most rigid. He was assigned to the Princeton School of Aeronautics in July, 1917, and remained there until September. On September 25, 1917, he embarked, as a cadet, on the liner "Saxonia," at New York, safely reaching England, where for long he was in training. Crossing to France eventually, he went into action, and saw dangerous exciting service at the front. He was killed in action on October 23, 1918, during the last six months of service holding the rank of first lieutenant.

Frank F. Johnson, of Duluth, was called into service on June 28, 1918, and assigned to an infantry unit at Camp Grant where he did not remain for more than a month. On November 5, 1918, he died of wounds received in action in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. His mother is Mrs. Bertha Johnson, of 21 South Sixty-Sixth Avenue, West, Duluth.

Harry E. Johnson was the son of John A. Johnson, of 125 North Sixty-First Avenue, West, Duluth.

Johan A. Johnson, who lived in Chisholm before going into military service, appears to have no relatives in St. Louis County. His sister, Esther, lives in Pittsburg.

John Johnson, whose mother now lives in Eveleth, was born on July 11, 1896, at Wasa, Finland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson. He was enlisted into the infantry branch of the National Army in July, 1918, and was ordered to Camp Cody, Deming, New Mexico. There he was assigned to Casual Company No. 4, of the Three Hundred and Eighty-Eighth Infantry. He died of pneumonia in that camp on November 6, 1918.

Leonard Johnson, of Duluth, was a nephew of Mrs. Sardra Willis, 104 South Forty-Eighth Avenue, West, Duluth.

Robert M. Johnson, of Duluth, lived at 2112 West Third Street before enlistment.

Anthony Kaelis lived at 1022 West Superior Street.

John E. Kalahar lived in Hibbing, his widow, Viola C., still living there.

David Kaplan had lived in Duluth for about ten years before entering upon military duties, but he was born in Russia. He was killed in action in France on October 4, 1918.

Dan D. Katoski, who before entering upon military duty was a teamster in the employ of J. H. Clough, contractor of Duluth, was born in August, 1890, at Ragrot, Poland. He was enlisted, as private in infantry of the Regular Army, on July 24, 1918, at Duluth, and sent to Camp Wadsworth, Spartansburg, South Carolina, where on July 28th he was assigned to Company K. Fifty-Fifth Pioneer Infantry. His regiment left Camp Wadsworth, for Port of Embarkation in August, and in September arrived at Brest, France. Katoski was transferred to Company D, One Hundred and Sixth Infantry, and saw five weeks of active fighting. As the result of his service, he was paralyzed, and rendered helpless in January, 1919. On March 3, 1919, he arrived in New York, and was sent to United States Army General Hospital No. 29, Fort Snelling, Minnesota, from which he was discharged on July 30, 1919. He died on October 29, 1920, at the home of his uncle, Charles Wisocki, 512 North Fifth Street, Duluth.

Paul R. Keehn, who lived in Duluth before entering upon army duties, was the son of Mrs. Lena Keehn, of Mount Clemens, Michigan.

Ambrose Manley Kelley was in business in Duluth before being called to service, being grain clerk for the Kellogg Commission Company of Duluth. He enlisted at Duluth in the early months of the war, on May 25, 1917, joining the Machine Gun Battalion of the Third Minnesota Regiment. Was at Camp Cody, Deming, New Mexico, from August, 1917, until September, 1918, when he left for Port of Embarkation, reaching France in October. He was stationed at La Bozage, Sarthe, France, for some time, and later was at Le Mans, France, where, on February 28, 1919, he died of broncho-pneumonia. He was born at Taylor Falls, Minnesota, January 3, 1892, son of J. D. and Mary (Manley) Kelley. His widow, Olivette Kelley lives in Duluth.

Fred Michael Kenney, whose aunt is Mrs. Frank Lesler of Duluth, was born on December 8, 1889, at Detroit, Michigan. By trade he was a granite cutter, and before enlistment was working at his trade in Chicago. It was in Chicago that he was influenced in November, 1916, to enlist, going to Canada for the purpose. He became a member of the Fourth Canadian Reserve Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and after this nation joined the Allies, he was assigned to recruiting duties at the British Recruiting Mission's Chicago headquarters. Later, he returned to Toronto, and there embarked for England. He was in training at Witley, Surrey, for a short while in 1917, but was in the front-line trenches in France, and in action, in that year, meeting death there on August 9, 1917.

Marshall Louvain Knapp, a native Duluthian, popular in West Duluth and an accomplished violinist, died of influenza at Camp Humphries, on September 28, 1918, six months after enlistment. He was born in Duluth on March 9, 1897, son of Jerome M. and Susie H. Knapp, his mother now living at 17 North Sixty-Second Avenue, West Duluth. His education was obtained at local schools, he eventually graduating from the Denfield High School. Entering business life, he became a clerk in the offices of the Duluth, Missabe and Northern Railway Company, at Duluth, and was an estimable young man of steady refined character. Entering upon military service in March, 1918, he was assigned to duty with Company B, Second Engineering Training Regiment, at Camp Humphries, Virginia. There he died.

Teddy Kovecavich, who was killed in action in France in October, 1918, lived in Chishom, where his brother, Nick, also lives. Teddy was born at Tisovic, Kalji, Croatia, Jugo-Slavia, on February 16, 1893. He enlisted in the infantry in May, 1917.

Henry S. Knowlton, who has a place on the Duluth Honor roll, was in war service long before the United States joined the Allies. He enlisted at Winnipeg, Canada, in Company A, Twenty-Seventh Battalion, Canadian Army, and saw much service at the Front before he was killed, on May 3, 1917, at Fresney, France. He was born at Superior, Wisconsin, February 1, 1891, the son of Edwin S. and Matilda Knowlton, now of Duluth.

Adam Kucharski, a native Duluthian, was not yet twenty years old when he enlisted at Duluth, in the early months of the war, in the Third Minnesota National Guard. He was assigned to Company C, at Camp Cody, New Mexico, and left with the regiment for France. He was killed in action on September 5, 1918. His father, Anton Kucharski lives at 316 East Ninth Street, Duluth.

William Henry Lahti was a native of St. Louis County. He was born April 2, 1895, at Soudan, the son of Alexander Lahti, now of Cook, St. Louis County. He reported for military duty in May, 1918, and was assigned to an infantry unit. He served in France during the time of greatest stress, and succumbed to influenza on October 6, 1918.

Svante Lampi, who was killed in action in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, was well known in Gilbert, where before entering military service, he was a city official. He was of Finnish origin, born in Karvia, Finland, August 22, 1886, son of Alexander Lampi. He entered the U. S. Army on May 24, 1918, at Eveleth. From there he was sent to Camp Lewis, Washington, and there assigned to the Thirty-Fourth Company, One Hundred and Sixty-Sixth Depot Brigade, Fortieth Division. Six weeks later he was transferred to Camp Kearney, California, but within a month was on the way to France, embarking at Boston on the troopship "Berrima" on August 8, 1918, with Company I, One Hundred and Fiftieth Infantry, Fortieth Division. On September 25th he was transferred to Company D, One Hundred and Ninth Infantry, Fortieth Division, and was with that unit when he met his death, in action, on October 7, 1918.

Albert P. LaTendress was a Duluthian, and before reporting for military duty lived at 3 West Fifth Street, Duluth.

Lloyd Ernest Le Duc, also a well-known Duluthian, was the son of A. C. LeDuc, of 10 North Twelfth Avenue, east. Lloyd was in the United States Navy.

Fred Luhm, of Duluth, son of W. H. Luhm, of 4229 Gladstone Street, Duluth, was early in national service, enlisting at Duluth in the Ambulance Corps. He was assigned to the Forty-Eighth Ambulance Section, and was killed by a shell while at his duties on the Western front in 1918.

Louis McCahill, who was killed in action on November 7, 1918, is listed with the Duluth men. He was born in 1896, son of James McCahill, and the family lived in Duluth until the death of the father in 1909, when the family removed to Lake City, Minnesota, where Mrs. McCahill still lives.

Arthur W. McCauley was a brave Duluth boy. He was only seventeen years old when, in 1915, he left his home and went to Winnipeg, to enlist in the Canadian Army. His family never saw him again. He was born on July 10, 1898, the son of E. J. McCauley, who now lives at 13 East Superior Street, and as a boy attended Jackson School, Duluth. He saw three years of terribly hard service in France, and passed through the severe fighting of 1916 and 1917 without so much as a scratch. Early in 1918, however, he was wounded, and when partially convalescent was sent on recruiting duty to Scotland. That assignment accomplished, however, he was again ordered to France, and was again wounded. That was on July 22, 1918, but the wound was not a serious one and he was soon back in the trenches, only, however, to meet instant death in action on August 8, 1918. He surely served the cause of Liberty to the full.

Edward J. McDermott, eighteen-year-old son of James McDermott, of 2325 West Ninth Street, Duluth, enlisted in the Marine Corps, on April 15, 1918, and died in France on August 10th of that year. Before leaving home he was in the employ of Duluth Paper and Stationery Company.

Born April 18, 1884, at Trondhjem, Norway, he had lived in America for many years before enlisting on June 25, 1918, in the Medical Department of the United States Army. He died of disease while on the voyage to France, death occurring on October 11, 1918. His widow still lives in Virginia, Minnesota.

Samuel Nehemiah Maxwell, of Eveleth, was born on February 24, 1897, the family being well known in Eveleth. He was not called into service until August, 1918, and then assigned to the Motor Transport Corps. He died of influenza at Indianapolis, Indiana, on October 7, 1918.

Oscar A. Melander was a Duluthian by birth, and seemed to have a promising career before him as a dentist. He was born in Duluth on March 1, 1893, son of August H. and Cecelia Melander, now of East Fourth Street. He attended Duluth schools, and in 1912 graduated from the Central High School. He proceeded to the University of Minnesota, and was still an undergraduate when war came in 1917. He joined the Student Corps of the University of Minnesota when that was organized and became a sergeant of it. Very soon after graduating, as a dentist in 1918, he decided to enlist in the regular army, and did so on June 14, 1918, at St. Paul, Minnesota, as a private of the aviation branch. He was assigned to the Air Service Mechanical School, at St. Paul, and at that establishment was detailed to the medical section, because of his professional training. He was soon expecting examination for commission in the army when sickness intervened. Stricken with influenza, he was removed to the army hospital, Overland Building, St. Paul, and there died on October 11, 1918. Thus ended long preparations for a useful professional life.

Arthur A. Mellin, a Duluth boy who was killed in action within sixteen days of landing in France, was born in Duluth, October 22, 1897, the son of Alexander and Ida Mellin, now of 1719 West New Street. He was interested in soldiering long before the nation became involved in the European struggle, and as a member of the Third Minnesota Infantry, of the National Guard, went to the Mexican Border, in 1916 when the country was virtually at war with Mexico. In civil life, he was a typewriter mechanic, and was with the Remington Typewriter Company, Duluth. In June, 1917, he enlisted for World War service. He belonged to Company C of the Third Minnesota Infantry, Thirty-fourth Division and was at Camp Cody, New Mexico, until June, 1918, then leaving for Camp Merritt, New Jersey, where he remained until July 12th, when he embarked for Europe with the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, to Company C of which he had been transferred while still at Camp Cody. He left Camp Cody as a machine gun casual. Almost immediately after debarking in France, he was transferred to Company K of the One Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry, and went into the front-line trenches in the Argonne within four days of landing. He was killed in the Argonne Forest early in August, 1918.

William G. Messner, who made the Supreme Sacrifice, was a son of Jake B. Messner, of Hibbing.

Edward F. Mettner was born in Duluth on September 16, 1890, son of Edward Mettner, now of 5723 Avondale Street, Duluth. He died of influenza at Camp Edgewood, Maryland, October 10, 1918.

Sigurd Peter Moe, of McKinley, was one of the outstanding heroes of the early days of American participation in the fighting on the Western front. He was in the Marine Corps, and was killed in the memorable engagement at Belleau Wood on June 12, 1918, and because of his bravery in that engagement, the French Government honored his memory by awarding him the Croix de Guerre. The report shows that Sigurd Moe and another marine, Willis Shoemaker, left a shelter trench during heavy bombardment to rescue a wounded comrade. Moe was killed in the attempt.

William H. Morrison, who was killed in action in France in September or October, 1918, was a Duluthian. His sister, Miss Agatha M., lives at 1815 West Superior Street.

Michael J. Murphy, whose home was in Sioux City, Iowa, will be remembered by Duluth people. He was a sergeant of Marines, and was in charge of recruiting for the United States Marine Corps in Duluth; also, he was captain of the Duluth Marine Scouts. After leaving Duluth, he was stationed for a time at Quantico, Virginia, but soon assigned to service abroad. He was killed in action in France in August, 1918.

John J. Mustar, of Gilbert, succumbed to pneumonia, following influenza, at Camp Eustis, Virginia, on October 13, 1918. He had been in service for ten months, having enlisted at Gilbert on December 16, 1917, in Battery C, Forty-ninth Regiment. He was born in Biwabik, April 11, 1896, but lived for many years in Gilbert latterly, being in the employ of the Gilbert Hardware Company for some time before enlistment. His mother, Maria Muster, still lives in Gilbert.

Arthur Nelson was of Prosser, Minnesota.

Charles G. Nelson was the son of Gust Nelson of Soudan.

Edward G. Nelson of Duluth died June, 1919. His sister is Mrs. Edward Peterson, 917 East Tenth Street, Duluth.

Max Neubauer, son of Florian Neubauer, of Ninety-second Avenue, West, and Grand, Duluth, departed from Duluth with the first detachment drafter in September, 1917. He went overseas and died of wounds in France in July, 1918, at first being reported: "Missing in action."

Carl Oscar Niemi belonged to a well-known and respected Eveleth family. He was born on July 28, 1894, at Tower, St. Louis County, son of Oscar Niemi. Carl attended the first Officers' Training Camp, at Fort Snelling, in June, 1917, and after a two months' course was commissioned second lieutenant, and assigned to the Air Service. He soon went overseas, and as an aviator did valuable and dangerous work along the Western front during the severe fighting in 1918. He also was for a time on the Italian front. When the Armistice came, he was on the French front, and soon afterwards was under orders to return home. The orders were rescinded and he continued to do reconnaissance work with his organization and met his death as the result of a mid-air collision of aeroplanes. He was buried in an American cemetery in France with the honors customarily tendered an aviator.

Gilbert Winsford Nordman, who was killed in action at Cote de Chatillon, France, October 16, 1918, had lived in Duluth for many years with his parents, Julius and Jennie Nordman of 221 East Fifth Street. Gilbert was born in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, on November 17, 1894, and by trade was an auto mechanic. He was employed by the Central Auto Company, Duluth, before enlistment, which took place on September 5, 1917, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He was sent to Camp Custer, Michigan, and there assigned to the Thirty-second Company, One Hundred and Sixtieth Depot Brigade, Eighth Battalion. He arrived at St. Nazaire, France, on March 6, 1918, and was in action at Badonvillers four days later. He saw considerable fighting during the following six months in Champagne, at St. Mihiel, Aisne, Meuse, Argonne.

James Novak, of Virginia, was a Bohemian by birth, but evidently seriously affected by the state of war in Europe. He went to Canada and enlisted in the Canadian army long before the United States became involved in the war. He, however, appears to have been transferred to the United States army in May, 1918, at his request. During that summer, he was at Fort Brady, Michigan, and during the epidemic of Spanish influenza he contracted the disease and died on October 16, 1918, at that fort. His father is Frank Novak, of Greaney.

Erick Ofsted was of Duluth. He enlisted at Duluth, in April, 1918, and eventually became a member of Company F, of the Three Hundred and Eighty-fifth Infantry, with which unit he sailed for France in July, 1918. He was reported, "Missing in action."

Axel William Olson was a Duluthian, his mother being Mrs. Alice Olson of East First Street.

Chester Norman Olson lived at Cresson before enlistment. His nearest relative in America seems to have been Mrs. H. C. Hess, of Phelps, Wisconsin.

Ernest R. Olson was a Duluthian, his widow, Mabel Olson, living at 216 South Sixty-third Avenue, west, Duluth.

John R. Olson, a Norwegian by birth, followed the trade of painter in Duluth before entering the service in May, 1918. He lived at 2422 West Seventh Street, Duluth, before reporting for duty. His military record covers four months of service at Camp Dodge, Iowa, where on October 15, 1918, he died of pneumonia. His body was returned to Duluth and buried with military honors. He had no relatives in America, but his mother, in Norway, survives him.

Fred Ostrom, of Eveleth, was gassed at the front, and later died of influenza. His remains now lie at Negaunee, Michigan Cemetery.

John Leo Ossowski was the son of John Ossowski, of 2830 North Hudson Avenue, Duluth.

David Livingston Page, of Duluth, enlisted early in 1917 in the Third Minnesota Infantry, Thirty-fourth Division. Later he was transferred to the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, of the same division. He died while on the voyage overseas, and was buried in England. His mother is Mrs. Mary Page, of 1001 Twelfth Avenue, West, Duluth.

Albin F. Palmer, of Duluth, was the son of C. A. Palmer, of Chisago City, Minnesota. Albin was called to military duty on May 25, 1918, and went overseas with the Seventy-seventh Division. He was killed in action on the French front on October 4, 1918. When in Duluth he lived at 2316 West Second Street.

Mervin Palmer was a brother of Albin.

John Paul Parker, who was well-known in Gilbert, was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota, February 20, 1888. He enlisted almost as soon as this country entered into the struggle in April, 1917, and was with one of the units early in France. He was killed in action at the Aisne River, France, July 10, 1918, and was buried in the American Area Cemetery, Row C, Grave 76, Commune Lecharmieu, Aisne territory.

Otto Pazari, of Eveleth, was killed in action in France.

John Perone lived at 1408 Gary Street, West, Duluth, before entering upon military duties.

Andrew Peterson, of Cotton, Minnesota, was the son of Peter Peterson, of same town. He was born in Norway, January 24, 1890. He enlisted on September 20, 1917, and was assigned to Company E, of the Fifty-eighth Infantry, which was sent to France in time to take part in the supreme effort made by the Allies after the July, 1918, drive of the Germans had spent itself. Andrew took part in the counter-offensive, but was killed on the second or third day of the great French counter-offensive which was destined to bring to the Allies a triumphant issue. Andrew Peterson is recorded as having been killed on July 18th.

Arty Peterson, of Eveleth, died of pneumonia on September 25, 1918. His remains were brought to Virginia, Minnesota, for interment.

August Peterson was the son of Nels G. Peterson, of Biwabik, and was born on May 23, 1892, at St. Ignace, Michigan. On July 27, 1917, he enlisted in the artillery and was assigned to Battery B, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Heavy Field Artillery, Thirty-fourth Division. He went overseas and died of influenza at Liverpool, England, on October 15, 1918.

Axel Rudolph Peterson was a native-born Duluthian, son of Oscar R. Peterson, of 912 North Fifty-seventh Avenue, West. He was educated chiefly in Duluth schools, and was a steady boy, of exemplary habits, never having smoked. He was also a teetotaler, and was earnest in his endeavor to succeed in life. He received license as assistant druggist at the age of twenty, and had it not been for the national situation early in 1917, would probably soon have secured the major license. He was twenty-one years old when he enlisted, in June, 1917, and was assigned to the medical detachment of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, going with the regiment to Camp Cody, New Mexico. There he died a year later, on June 2, 1918, of pneumonia.

Carl William Peterson was the son of August W. Peterson, 5632 West Eighth Street, Duluth.

Ernest O. Peterson, also of Duluth, was brother of Arthur W. Peterson, 2702 West Third Street, Duluth.

Harold Peterson, brother of Mrs. Carl Olson, 427 Forty-third Avenue, West, Duluth, lived in Duluth before the war came.

Helmer A. Peterson was born in Duluth, and was well-known. He was born January 23, 1894, son of John and Hannah Peterson, and his academic schooling was obtained in Duluth schools. He became a pharmacist and in that capacity was employed at Beyers Drug Store, Duluth, for some time before reporting for military duty on September 21, 1917. He was sent from Duluth to Camp Dodge, Iowa, and assigned to the Medical Corps, 350th F. A., 313th Sanitary Train. At Camp Dodge he remained for the winter and would probably have gone overseas in 1918 had he not succumbed to disease at Camp Dodge, on April 10, 1918. His mother now lives at 119 East Third Street, Duluth.

Henning O. Peterson lived at 520 West Superior Street, Duluth, before entering the army. His brother, Arvid, lives in Chicago.

Rudolph Peterson was the son of Oscar R. Peterson, of 912 North Fifty-seventh Avenue, West, Duluth. Rudolph worked in Duluth before entering the service.

Elia Peteruka was of Duluth residence prior to the war, but appears to have no relatives in Minnesota. His brother, Gust Peterson, is at Fort Morgan, Colorado.

John Pitich was one of the boys from Buhl.

John H. Pluth was of Ely, where his mother, who is now Mrs. Anna Matiehick, lives.

Neno Molidro lived at Aurora, his papers state.

George E. Porthan, of Ely, was the son of John E. Porthan, of that place. Porthan was killed in action in France.

Mott Prelbich was also of Ely; his father is John Prelbich.

Louis Press lived at Chisholm before leaving for military service. His brother, Samuel, lives at Eveleth, at 705 Hayes Street. Louis was born August 17, 1891, at Trovi, Russia, but had lived in the United States for many years before the war. He was enlisted in February, 1918, and went overseas with an infantry regiment. He was killed in action in France on August 15, 1918.

Clyde E. Prudden, who became a major of the Medical Corps, United States army and was much respected by the men of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, was a well-known and successful physician of Duluth before the state of war into which the nation became in 1917 so radically changed the course of the lives of so many of its worthiest citizens. Major Prudden was born in Duluth, and attended local schools. For the medical course he proceeded to Northwestern University, from which he graduated with the degree of Doctor of Medicine, with the class of 1909. In 1912 he was an associate of Dr. C. A. Stewart, in practice in Duluth, and later with Drs. Bagby, Kohagan and Gillespie. He was for many years interested in military affairs, and in peace time was a member of the old Third Minnesota Infantry. He went with the regiment to Fort Snelling, and when it was converted from an infantry to a field artillery unit, he was advanced in rank and made senior officer of the Medical Detachment at the Base Hospital. Within a short time, he was again promoted and became major. Eventually, he became senior major of the Regimental Medical Detachment of the One Hundred Twenty-fifth Field Artillery. From August, 1917, to the autumn of the following year, he was with the regiment at Fort Deming, New Mexico. In September, the regiment went overseas and during the voyage Major Prudden developed pneumonia, from which he died before the regiment debarked. Doctor Prudden was married in Oklahoma City in January, 1918, and a child was born to his widow five or six months after his death. Both widow and child, however, met a tragic death, being drowned in the tidal wave that swept Corpus Christie, on September 14, 1919. The body of Major Prudden was returned to the United States in October, 1920. It was received in Duluth on November 1, 1920, and reinterred on American soil in his native city, with full military honors and with many other indications of the respect in which his memory is held by people of Duluth. His father is A. E. Prudden, of 3501 Minnesota Avenue.

Otto Pusarim, another of the soldiers of Ely who gave national service to the full, was the son of Matt Pusarim of Ely.

Howard C. Quigley, who was killed in action in the Argonne Forest, France, November 4, 1918, was a native of Duluth, born in the city July 18, 1894, the son of James R. Quigley, now of 123 Minneapolis Avenue, Duluth. Young Quigley passed through the Duluth schools, and was with the American Bridge Company, Duluth, when called into service on April 26, 1918, at Duluth. As a private of infantry, he was sent to Camp Dodge, Iowa, and became a member of Company D, Three Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry, Ninetieth Division, going to Camp Travis, Texas, within three weeks of reaching Camp Dodge. In June, 1918, his regiment embarked at Hoboken and was soon in action in France. Quigley was present at St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne major offensives, being killed in the Argonne within a week of the signing of the armistice.

William Henry Reddy, of Biwabik, was in the United States navy, and had the rating of baker, 2cl. His mother is Mrs. Mary Reddy, of Biwabik.

Pfeiffer, Iverson, Minnesota, and lived in Duluth, where his widow still lives, was a Norwegian by birth, born in Gubbiansdalen, Norway, December 15, 1894. He was called into service on June 28, 1918, at Carlton, Minnesota, and sent to Camp Grant, Illinois, where he was assigned to the Three Hundred and Forty-first Infantry, a regiment of the Eighty-sixth Division. In August he left for an eastern camp, preparatory to going overseas and left Camp Upton, New York, September 8th, embarking then. He received promotion to the grade of corporal during the voyage. He first went into action at Verdun on October 12, 1918, and was fighting on that front until the 19th, when he received a shrapnel wound and was also gassed. The shrapnel wounds were not serious, but the gas set up a lingering illness. Finally, he died of tubercular meningitis, at the American Base Hospital, Brest, France, May 29, 1919.

Thomas B. Shaughnessy lived at Morgan Park prior to enlisting. He was born at Minneapolis, Minnesota, April 27, 1891, son of James P. and Ellen Shaughnessy, who now live at Morgan Park, Duluth. Thomas B. by trade was a structural ironworker and was with the Universal Portland Cement Company. He was a young man of grit, and earned patriotic purpose, as he showed when called upon to report for military duty. He had received notice to report at Duluth on February 26, 1918, and on that morning sprained his ankle. But he refused to be left behind by the detachment then departing, so he was taken to the station in an auto, and upon arrival at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, was placed in hospital, where he remained for ten days. Following that, he was in a detention camp for seventeen days and was given ten days of intensive drilling, and then sent on to the port of embarkation. It was at the time of the breaking of the British front in France during the great spring drive of the Germans. Shaughnessy was on the British front in May, 1918, and in a Belgian sector. In June, he was in the Vosges Mountains. He was at St. Mihiel September 12th and from September 26 to October 2 was in the terrible fighting in the Argonne Forest, and later in the Meuse sector, five miles south of Verdun. He passed through the terrible fighting without hurt, but while waiting for home orders, he was taken sick and pneumonia developing he died at Base Hospital, No. 9, Bazoilles, France, on February 7, 1919.

PLAN PARADE AS DRAFT MEN LEAVE FOR CAMP DODGE

West End Residents Will Honor Second District Men With Parade And Escort.

West End citizens are planning a parade for tomorrow noon in honor of 27 men who will leave for Camp Dodge to fill the quota of local exemption board No. 2. The men will leave on the Great Northern train at 12 o'clock. The parade is expected to start at about 11:30 o'clock in the morning for the board building, Twentieth avenue West and Superior street. This will fill the West End board's quota to date.

Those who leave are:

Adolph Ahlenstorf	flat 16, Sixteenth avenue West
Olaf John Harron	2020 West Second street
Charles I. Hakes	Y. W. C. A.
Ovila A. Chabot	general delivery
Lysle B. Hackett

These five men volunteered to go. The others are as follows:

Allen Carlson	Agnew Bros. Camp No. 22, Tourney, Minn.
Frank James Bickner	321 West First street
Nels O. Nelson	2114 Piedmont avenue
Robert R. Korsch	1907 West Michigan street
Saron Larson	box 182, Cloquet, Minn.
Louis Hanson	510 West Superior street
Albert O. Brandvick	1907 West First street
John Jacobson	1729 West First street
George Louis Gustafson	708½ Garfield avenue
Cyrel W. Beresford	702 West Second street
Ole Nesby	224 Mesaba avenue
Carl Albert Johnson	715 West First street
George F. Fredrickson	4030 Gilliat avenue
Walter Burnstrom	Arthyde, Minn.
James Arthur Butler	320 West First street
John Anderson	826 Garfield avenue
Seavert Backe	Saratoga hotel, Superior, Wis.
Fred A. Lundquist	2302 West Second street
William Patton	Roosville, Ga.
Theodore Engvald Thompson	2129 West Tenth street
A. D. Baker	Spalding hotel
Edward Pelky	2323½ West Fifth street

The third and fourth districts of Duluth already have furnished the number of men called for in the first quota and do not have to send any additional men. The fourth district sent eight men to Camp Dodge last week. This fills Duluth's first quota for the national army.

Proctor Boys Honored.

Proctor's draft boys who will leave for Camp Dodge, Wednesday, were guests of honor last night at a banquet and program given by the Proctor Railroad club. The banquet at which 24 were present, was held at the Duquesne hotel. The program was given at the Y. M. C. A. building and was attended by about 250 Proctor residents.

F. J. Dixon, president of the Railroad club, was chairman. Those on the program of speeches were Prof. C. C. Grubs, superintendent of the Proctor school, Fred Ward, superintendent of the county work farm and chairman of the first district county draft board, and Rev. John W. Skans, pastor of the First M. E. church of Proctor and county attorney Warren Greene. Moving picture of army life featured the program.

Rev. Father Walsh, who was unable to attend, sent a message that, although he could not address the boys in person, his "heart was with them." A letter was read from J. W. Kreitter, superintendent of the D. M. & N. railroad, in which he wished the boys God-speed. Each of the eight drafted men were given a housewife, presented by the ladies of the Proctor Red Cross chapter.

The program, followed by a smoker, was closed with the singing of "America" by the audience.

BOARDS NEAR END OF EXAMINATIONS OF A1 DRAFT MEN

Third District Board Will Examine Last Consignment of 50 Men on Thursday.

Reception and parade for the draft contingent which departs this morning for Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa, will be conducted at the direction of the Commercial club. The parade will form at the courthouse at 11:15 o'clock and the march will start at 11:30 o'clock.

In the lines as escort to the Duluth draftees will be the Fourth regiment and Home guard, and the G. A. R. drum corps. The draft contingents will follow, and citizens will fall in at the rear.

Parade will be on Fifth avenue West, south to the Omaha depot. At the depot the Commercial club reception committee will provide the departing National army men making up the first draft quota, with smokes, fruit and candy.

The third Duluth draft board, yesterday called 50 men for physical examination on Thursday. This is the last group of men registered in class 1, to be called. About 163 questionnaires have not been returned, and the owners will be listed as deserters. Some men called for physical examination failed to appear, and they will be examined later. Many of these failing to appear it is believed are men who have moved from the city and as yet have not had time to have transfer cards issued to their new districts.

Twenty-five Qualify.

For examination yesterday 65 were called, all but 20 of whom appeared. From this number 25 men qualified for service were secured, seven for limited service, one was disqualified and 19 referred to the medical advisory board.

Daniel Mahoney, head of the board, last night stated, "Men included in the draft should remember that the burden of answering calls is up to them, and therefore in case of leaving the city change of address should be given to the draft board, the men will be considered as deserters even though they fail to get this notice because of change of addresses."

Those accepted for regular service yesterday were:

Guy Levine	821 Fourth Ave. South
Sigurd J. Duclett	1020 East Sixth St.
Conrad H. Sloan	218 West Third St.

Arvid Hager	814 Third Ave. East
Joseph Chisholm	513 First Ave. West

In addition to the 52 men examined from the third district, the board examined 15 men from out of town, bringing the total examined yesterday to nearly the record.

The fourth district draft board called 36 men, from which number 20 were secured. Four were held for the medical advisory board, two were rejected, six transferred to other boards, two given extended time, and one was booked for limited service. Those accepted were:

Oscar A. Erickson	4120 Luverne St.

National Lottery for registrants is held at capitol
Order of Numbers Determines the Place In Class to Which New Men Will Be Assigned.

Each Man Will Appear Before District Board to Be classified
List of Those in Duluth.

The national lottery held in Washington today gives every member of the 1918 class a number. These do not fix the order in which the registrants will be called, as each one as to appear before his district board and be placed in the various classes. The order in which a registrant's number is drawn will determine only his place in the class to which he will be assigned. Assignment of a registrant to Class 1 is practically certain to entail his call to the colors if he is physically fit, and, if he is given deferred classification, his position in the other classes will be given governed by his number.

The following is the order of drawing for Duluth draftees:

THIRTY-SEVEN ARE NAMED FOR DRAFT OF JULY 15

Volunteers for Special Work Will Entrain From Duluth for Dunwoody Institute.

Monday July 15, the four draft boards will offer 27 more young men to the nation's war cause. They will be skilled workman and will go to Dunwoody Institute.

Volunteers skilled in electrical, radio, sheet metal, and automobile work will answer the next call. All four boards received a large number of applications, but in each case the right to answer the call was given to the qualified men in the order of their application.

Delay in July 22 call.

Owing to the fact that the July 22 call for men takes practically all of Class 1, there is delay in compiling the lists as a number of cases are still pending before the federal and medical advisory boards. Some of the boards, have declared an intention of calling all of the men left using their surplus for substitutes. The men leaving Monday, July 15 are:

TWO GILDERMAN BOYS ENLIST IN GUARD AND ARMY

Pink Cards Are Sent to Quota of Drafted Men in the First County Division.

There is one family at Proctor that is doing its bit.

It is that of H. G. Gilderman, who is clerk of the local draft board of the first county division.

Clerk Gilderman who is also municipal judge at Proctor was in the city yesterday checking over the first quota to depart for Camp Dodge this week.

He was indeed surprised when his son, Walter L. Gilderman, walked into headquarters attired in uniform, a member of the Fourth regiment.

Scarcely had Walter left the headquarters when in walked Arthur G. Gilderman, another son, who informed his father that he too had enlisted in the Tenth engineering corps.

Supper at Spalding.

There was supper last night at the Spalding, after which the father returned to his post and certified 65 who will leave next Saturday over the Northern Pacific railroad for Camp Dodge.

The men were all mailed pink cards yesterday to report at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and be ready to leave at 12:10 p.m. next Saturday.

To prove that Clerk Gilderman's heart is in the right place there will be a brass band to escort the first county division to the train, and details of the parade will be arranged at a meeting of the Liberty league to be held at Proctor tonight.

Here are the 65 who will represent the first quota to entrain from Duluth, with the last eight as extras, for full measure, who have been selected in accordance with the telegram received from Governor J. A. A. Burnquist yesterday. The quota from the first county district follows:

47 DRAFTED MEN ARE SELECTED IN FOURTH DISTRICT

Are Notified to Report Saturday Morning, Preparatory to Entraining at 12:10 P.M.

The fourth Duluth district board yesterday announced that the following 47 national army soldiers carried on its rolls would be summoned to appear at 10 a. m. Saturday at the board quarters, Dodge block, Fourth avenue East and Superior street, preliminary to entraining for Camp Dodge at 12:10 p. m., from the union station via the Northern Pacific:

Benjamin Joseph Burke	Max C. Rheinerger
George R. Johnson	Donald J. Johnston
Leonard W. Cato	Ernest Forsell
Francis Schlender	Emil P. Jensen
Carl Gustafson	William Smith
E. B. Gates	Sigurd Wold
Lincoln G. Brown	Herbert J. Bell
Harman Pegler	Benjamin D. Nelson
Reinhold C. Mettner	Royal V. Johnson
Virgil S. Vincent	H. L. Coleman
John Iver Anderson	Clarence Matthews
John P. Pontliana	Frank Bergman
Edward F. Mettner	Melvin H. Magie
Joseph Harvitch	Henry B. VanDyke

Henry E. Jacobson
John T. Stark
Claus Nickalson
Edward T. Green
Miron Bunnell
Carl Magnus Broman
Raymond F. Goering
Arthur A. Friedman
Levine Carlson
Arthur Hagen

Harold Kester
Al G. Alexander
Richard W. Rossiter
Frank O. Sanstedt
Henry Hendrickson
Walter J. Sederberg
Thomas Murphy
Edward J. Cameron
Walter E. Jaap

Officers Appointed.

Chairman Guy E. Warren announced that Edward J. Cameron would be designated as captain of the squad and Ernest Forsell lieutenant. They will be in command until Camp Dodge is reached.

On the same train with the fourth Duluth district soldiers will go the men from the first St. Louis county district, and three range district squads, altogether 294 men.

There were 2229 aliens of draft age registered June 5 in St. Louis county, and 32 enemy aliens. They are observing the progress of the alien draft bill which was passed in the senate and is now up for consideration in the house.

Under the first call for the draft army, these exemptions were allowed aliens: First Duluth, 78; second, 116; third, 128; fourth, 36.

If congress enacts the measure aimed to put aliens into the armed forces of the United States, alien enemies will also be called on for service, although not actual combat. Their services will be employed in other ways.

Alien draft legislation would necessarily materially affect the lists of registrants when the time arrives for the second call under the act providing for the registration of approximately 10,000,000 young men in this county.

Will Depart Friday.

The 101 soldiers of the first Duluth district will leave the city Friday morning and the 55 of the third district will leave at the same time. The 65 men of the second Duluth district will be ordered to report at the board's quarters, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street at 9 a. m. Friday, from where they will march to the train.

The 101 men of the first Duluth will report to the first district board quarters in the municipal building in West Duluth at 5:30 p. m. Thursday. Their departure is set for the next morning.

The fact that the date first set for the departure of national army soldiers from this part of the state was Sept. 19 served to bring not a few young men to Duluth a few days ahead, and they have presented a problem to local boards, especially that in the third. They have no money, and employment, where it is known that they can only work a few days at best, is not easy to get. The young fellows put up their plight to the draft officers with the result that the latter have "gone good" for a considerable sum in shelter and meals. They have about reached their limit as they money had to be taken from their personal funds. In the third district the men will not get away until Friday, and how they will be housed and fed until the government assumes responsibility late Thursday afternoon, is giving the board officers considerable concern.
